How-Wow A SITTING BULL SESSION WITH Chief SHOOTING BULL

How, Warriors and Warriorettes! How are ya? Glad to see you out tonight! Merry Xmas and a Happy Hooligan! Go right into my tent; the Indians is cooking some tasty victuals. Rally 'round the fire and get your wig-wag-m... The War-Whoop-ee! Jamboree will get underway, just as soon as Chief High Tower Gunter gets back from the city with a jug of fire-water. (Kerosene, ya' sis... we fooled ya! Ugh, whatta joke...)

Student Warriors, we gather here tonight to celebrate the publishing of the first issue of the War Whoop. We know that some of you will be chicken-hearted enough to tell us that this first issue is "foul".

Thanks! You are right, absolutely right. But what in the Sam Hill were you expecting, a Pulitzer Prize winnah? (The reason that we make such a rash statement is that some of you might be wondering just what there was to have a fete over.)

We're just happy that we've got a school paper. Honest. Injun! This is what our Ole Warrior College has been in dire need of for many moons. So...let's get happy, Warriors. 'Est Dance, Students. 'Est Dance.

We're gonna re-inact a Second Dancing at Treaty Rabbit...or a Second Treaty at Dancing Rabbit...or sumphin. But...since everybody is happy let's get on with the show.

First, to each and every Warrior who has so graciously contributed to the cause, i. e., paid your hard-earned wampum for a subscription to get a year's supply of War Whoops, we're proud of you. Long may your tribe increase! You're a better man than I am, Gunga Din, and all that kind of stuff!!

Well, Warriors, 'Est eat...can tell that you are gettin' tired of hearing this Chief...Shootin' Bull, so...we'll "steer" of the beaten cow-path and eat the fatted calf.

We shall call on Outlaw Meixel, a moving Iroquois, a real Indian, to come forward and carve the beast. Miss Eilene (Many-ha-ha) Jones and Miss Agatha Hamilton will serve the Cow-a-la-king. Truck up, ladies, and pass around the hash! Many-ha-ha, you Suzie-Q to the left, and Miss Agatha, you-all barbaque to the right. Ain't it wonderful? No more gravy....! The real "Mc-Cow."

Christmas Spirit is touching a new high on the campus this week. Mr. Claus is again the Man of the Hour. Many a happy couple, though, will break up this week end. Fire-crackers will be thrown in love-nests and old hatchets, long buried, will be dug up again. These penny-pinching Warriors will try to sever the cord that binds them to our

President Congratulates Us

I congratulate you upon developing the War Whoop. It should serve two major functions: as a mirror of life on the campus and as a forum for self-expression. Either function is very important. I hope that through this medium we will get a fuller picture of the range of activity that goes on in the college community to the end that we may develop a finer appreciation of ECJC. Without doubt, in these columns we shall be seen as we are and occasionally we shall be seen as others see us.

A paper affords the finest medium of self-expression. A large number of students should have a part in this project in some capacity. Chances for development of talents and abilities are large. If I were a student, I certainly would "try out" for some place on the staff. Many adults can look back with a great deal of satisfaction to their experience while working on their college paper.

I am sure that the staff will realize the possibilities in the paper for developing student opinion to worthy ends. It should be jealous of this right, yet should know that this paper is not an outlet for "spite", nor a medium for embarrassment of any person.

I hope that every student will be loyal to the War Whoop and support it wholeheartedly.

Yours truly,
L. O. Todd

President Todd

DR. COLEMAN WILL CONTINUE LECTURES

VARIOUS VIEWS OF WORLD
CONDITIONS IS THE THEME

Dr. Norman Coleman, of Reed College, Portland, Oregon, will continue his series of lectures to the student body each Friday morning at 10:00 A. M. Following his first discussion on "Present-Day Germany; or what caused the present situation in Central Europe and what remedy is available," he will lecture, on a date to be arranged, on "Rivalry between the U. S. and Japan for control of the Pacific." On January 6 his third lecture will be "American-Japanese Conflicts in China"; fourth, "The United States and Canada practice the Good Neighbor Policy"; fifth and last, "What possibility is there of a Cooperative Policy with our neighbor in the South?"

Dr. Coleman received his M. A. at Harvard; LL. D., Mills College and the University of Oregon. He is at present professor of literature at Reed College. Formerly he was President of Reed College, lecturer at American Expeditionary Forces; President of League of Nations Association; director American Social Hygiene Association, director of International Relations, and other responsible positions.

In the field of foreign affairs, Dr. Coleman has lectured in Washington and Oregon. He has traveled in Britain, France, Cussia, Germany, India and the Orient.

Mr. McConaughy, sponsor of the International Relations Club, says, "Dr. Coleman is a very able speaker. Under the present restless world conditions his subjects are extremely interesting."

The public is cordially invited. There will be no charge.

Xmas and don't forget to send Old Chief Shooting Bull a card twixt and 'mongst the holidays.

G'by,

Chief

The War Whoop Selected As E. C. J. C. Publication

ANNUAL STAFF BEGINS WORK FOR PUBLICATION

HEADS TO BE KLIEN NOEL
AND SARAH PAYNE
BELL

The Wo-He-Lo staff, with Klien Noel as editor-in-chief, and Sarah Payne Bell, business manager, is at work preparing material for the annual publication that will be published in the early part of April. The issue will contain information concerning the school, which will be of interest not only to the present student body but to all the alumni.

The concentrated drive is being made for the sale of the annual on the campus, three hundred as the minimum.

According to Mrs. Newsome, the sponsor of the annual, this will probably be the last publication for the next two years. Heretofore, the annual has been published every year, but members of the faculty and student body have decided to publish the annual on a two-year plan.

Annual Staff

Klien Noel, a student from Scott County, is a member of the sophomore class. Serving as president of the E. C. J. C., he has taken an active part in all school activities. When interviewed concerning the annual Klien answered, "We will endeavor to publish an annual worthy of representing the students of ECJC." Business Manager Sarah Payne Bell, also a member of the sophomore class, states, "It is the proper time for all good students of ECJC to come to the support of the annual, the Wo-He-Lo."

FROSH FEATURE WEEKLY SOCIAL

The Freshmen Class is planning big things for every Wednesday night from 6:30 to 7:00. This time will be set aside for them to forget their troubles and books and "let themselves go." There will be the "Big Apple," "Lambeth Walk," "Virginia Reel," and all other things that come into this fun-making group's mind.

We, the Freshmen, are expecting big things from these meetings in the way of making new and better acquaintances and of drawing the bonds that hold us together closer, so as to make a Freshman Class and not the "freshmen."

"Are you sure you'll love me when I'm old and ugly?" whined the nagging wife.

The husband bristled and snapped, "Who says I don't?"

MUNDAY ELECTED EDITOR BUSINESS HEAD IS STENNIS

At a mass meeting of students and faculty recently, it was decided that East Central Junior College should have a four-page printed paper, published semi-monthly. The War Whoop was chosen as the name of the paper by a vote of the students.

This is the first time in the history of the school that a four-page printed paper has been published. The last attempt to publish a paper was made three years ago, with Henry O'Bannon and Lavoe Townsend as the spearheads. Only one issue—a mimeographed, three-page paper—came out. Mrs. Newsome was faculty adviser of this publication.

Editor Elected

Riley Munday, of Philadelphia, has been elected editor-in-chief of the War Whoop. Riley had experience on the Philadelphia High School paper and is vitally interested in journalism. Besides being editor of the paper, he is a chess leader, a member of the Glee Club, and Dramatic Club. Doris Stennis, of New Jersey, elected business manager. She has had experience previously, as business manager of The Parrot, Newton High School paper. Leon Eubanks, English instructor, and J. R. Gipson, business manager of the school, have been elected faculty literary adviser and faculty business manager, respectively.

Other Members Selected

Other members of the staff have been selected. The editor and business manager announce the following staff: associate editor, Margaret Holliday; sports editor, Eugene Parnell; feature editors, Betty Shields and T. J. Kelly; literary editor, Mary Frances Beech; club editor, Frances Townsend; exchange editor, Janie Grady; circulation managers, Eileen Jones and Titus Mapp; art editors, Harrison Boswell, Warren McMullan and Janie Earle Daniels.

Typists, Violet Allen, Wendolyn Alford, Elna D. Hicks, Mary Ruth Weems, Sarah Pearl Blocker and Frances Still.

Reporters: Wayne Stone, Dorothy Watts, Doris Wilkes, Wilhelmina Muckelrath, Jack Stubbs, Loring Porter, Joseph Allman and Rachel Hunt Moore.

BAND GIVES FIRST CONCERT OF YEAR

The first concert of the year for the ECJC band was presented to the public December 18, at 8 o'clock under the direction of James Mosely.

The selections played by the band varied in theme. Many well-known Yuletide songs

Several new instrumental pieces have been purchased for the band recently. Because of the excellent personell and instruction, Mosely states that a better band for Decatur is being built every day.
